Concordia University
The Montreal Institute for Genocide and Human Rights Studies (MIGS)
An Institute of the Faculty of Arts & Science
A MIGS Workshop Seminar

Tom Quiggen

RCMP War Crimes Unit, Ottawa

Tracking the Guilty: Modern Research and Modern War Crimes

Friday/26 October /12:30 p.m.

Room LB-608
The George Rudé Seminar Room,
1400 de Maisonneuve Blvd.

Tom Quiggin (Hon, MA, CD) is currently a contract research analyst for the RCMP War Crimes Unit in Ottawa. A former military intelligence officer with service in Ex-Yugoslavia (1994), he has also been an election supervisor with the OSCE in Bosnia and an arms control inspector under the Conventional Forces in Europe Treaty and the Vienna Document. He has also worked for the International War Crimes Tribunal as an analyst in the Office of the Prosecutor. Since 1999, he has worked extensively in Canada's modern war crimes program, including contract work with the RCMP and Citizenship and Immigration.